POST ELECTION.

The election is over with and William H. Taft will succeed Theodore Roosevelt in the White House. This may or may not be in accord with your political wishes, but it is so. Now, the country will settle down to business, and let us hope there will be lots of it. Every indication points to a big revival in business all over the country. Railroads are planning big improvements, and not only planning, but raising money to carry out those plans. Railroad building means the consumption of iron, and that means work for men coal digging and coke making. From this onward wends the procession of farmers, merchants and manufacturers who supply these men with the necessities of life, and the circle narrows until the railroad once more gains from its own progress. As we said, there is every indication for business ahead. Every republican is striving to better things, because that is endorsement of his party, and no democrat is going to sulk in his tent because he got licked. With the disturbing influence of a great national election over, the country is now going to progress. The panic of 1907 has waned in influence. Money will become more and more plentiful, but people will be more careful now they proceed. The country will settle down into more of a cash basis than it has been, and people will avoid debt as if it were the pestilence. With "Big Bill Taft" at the helm, it is useless to predict disaster. William J. Bryan made a stout fight for his party and his defeat is an honorable one. The thrice defeated champion of democracy still has the confidence of his party, even though he be not successful.

Wonder if, before another presidential election is pulled off, that Sequachee will take that much-needed and long-looked for start.

The hewgag and all kinds of political gags having been played to a frazzle, now let us have more business.

Shortage of Small Coin.

In its September circular the National City Bank of New York says: "Some-what contrary to expectations there is an early and strong demand on the treasury for small bills, particularly one dollar silver certificates. The ability of the department to supply the latter is about exhausted. These certificates can only be issued against free silver dollars held in the general fund or in exchange for silver certificates or treasury notes of 1890 of the larger denominations. The free silver has fallen from $4,048,000 at the beginning of August to $765,000 at the end of the month. The demand for the one dollar certificates is probably due in part to the reviving retail trade and crop moving and in part to the fact that the silver dollar is no longer transported at the expense of the government. As express charges average on the whole $4 per $1,000, taking shipments from the mints at Philadelphia and San Francisco—at both extremes—into consideration, it is apparent that the certificates are likely henceforth to supplant in favor of the actual coin, if not with that portion of the public which has been accustomed to the use of coin, at least with the banks which are required to pay transportation charges."

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod Liver Oil is the means of life and enjoyment of life to thousands: men, women and children.

When appetite fails, it restores it. When food is a burden, it lifts the burden.

When you lose flesh, it brings the plumpness of health.

When work is hard and duty is heavy, it makes life bright.

It is the thin edge of the wedge; the thick end is food. But what is the use of food when you hate it and can't digest it?

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the food that makes you forget your stomach.

THE HOME-SEEKER'S GREAT OPPORTUNITY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29.—(Special).—In northern Wyoming, 75 miles east of the Yellowstone National Park 300 farms, varying in size from 40 to 160 acres have recently been thrown open to entry and settlement under the Reclamation Act. This tract of about 15,000 acres, constitutes what is known as the first unit of the Shoshone irrigation project.

The farms are obtainable under the Homestead Law, subject to the charges of actual cost of supplying water to the land. This charge has been fixed at $45 per acre, payable in not less than five nor more than ten annual installments. In addition to this the settler is required to pay an annual fee for maintenance and operation of $1 per acre. The first instalment of $5.50 per acre is due and payable at the time application is made for water right for any farm unit. The second instalment will be due on or before December 1, 1909, thus giving early settlers an opportunity of securing two crops before the second payment becomes due.

The elevation is about 4,400 feet above sea level, and the temperature seldom goes above 95 degrees in summer or below zero during the winter months. The valley is sheltered by mountain ranges on every side, and no blizzards, cyclones or other severe storms ever occur there.

The crops that can be grown on the Shoshone project are those common to the temperate zone. Alfalfa, wheat, oats, barley, timothy, potatoes, sugar beets, and all other crops produced in the states of the Mississippi Valley of the same latitude are grown here.

Wheat of excellent quality averages 40 bushels to the acre, oats average 55 to 60 bushels, and potatoes yield 250 to 300 per acre. Sugar beets contain a large percentage of saccharine matter and a beet sugar factory is projected for this project as soon as the acreage settled is large enough to warrant it. At present the beets are shipped to the factory at Billings, Montana. Hardy varieties of apples, pears, plum, cherry, and small fruits may be successfully grown. Large numbers of cattle and sheep graze on the lands surrounding the project, and there will always be a home market for hay. The settlers from the Mississippi Valley who took up home farms this spring have been uniformly successful, having harvested good crops on the new land.

Transportation facilities are furnished by a branch of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, which passes through the entire length of the project, and a line under construction giving a north and south trunk line from Denver, Colorado, to the Pacific coast, via Billings and Great Falls, Montana.

Four flourishing townships, viz: Cody, Garland, Powell, and Ralston are located on this project, containing schools, churches, banks, newspapers, manufacturing establishments, hotels, stores, etc., and offering fine opportunities for professional and business men and laborers.

The surrounding mountains are covered with spruce and fir and supply the farmers with timber and the stockmen with summer range. Large coal mines operated in the vicinity supply cheap fuel for domestic and manufacturing purposes. Well water of good quality is found at depths varying from 30 to 50 feet.

Every settler will need some capital. The amount, of course, will vary with the man, but $1,000 or its equivalent, is desirable. He will need a horse to live in, well, fences, barn, provisions for his family and feed for his working animals sufficient to last one year, as well as machinery, tools, etc. Arrangements have been perfected whereby settlers will be given opportunity by the Reclamation Service to work out their water right payments in excavating canals, extending the present system to cover additional lands.

Further information may be obtained by addressing the Statistician, U. S. Reclamation Service, Washington, D. C.

EXPECT BIGGER BUSINESS IN NEXT FEW MONTHS

New Equipment Involves Good Round Sum—Big Machines Up-to-Date in Every Way.

What are said will be the largest locomotives running south of Washington and the Ohio river, are those recently ordered for the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad, for service between Chattanooga and Nashville. Three Baldwin balance compound, ten-wheel passenger engines, guaranteed to pull twelve Pullman cars at an average rate of a mile a minute, comprises the order of the local railroad. This order, by the way, is the first of any consequence made by a southern system since the panic of a year ago.

The new locomotives are said to be the equal to the best in the country. They are built along the same general lines as are the four Baldwin's purchased by this railroad some time ago, and which are now being operated daily. The new engines, however, will be several inches taller, having three inch increase in the wheels, and will be equipped with the Welsherts' valve gear.

The weight of the big engines will be about 147 tons when they are in working order. The tender will be very large, having space for twelve tons of coal and a tank with a capacity of 5,500 gallons of water. Only one stop for water will be made between Chattanooga and Nashville.

The new equipment was ordered several weeks ago, but official announcement was not made until yesterday. It is said that the three locomotives will cost between $90,000 and $75,000. Local officials of the Nashville road believe that these locomotives will be assigned to a special engineer, and not "chain ganged," as is the present system. At present the engineers run on the principal of "first in, first out," and by this arrangement they frequently catch the short trains on which the big engines are not used. They very often come down from Nashville on one engine and go back on another. Their next trip will also be on different engines, and it will not be until the third trip down that they will catch their first locomotive. And then the usual changes will again occur.

The purchase of these engines indicates that the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis officials are looking for a large increase in passenger business this winter. Some went so far as to state that several extra trains would be put on, and intimated that the fast schedule ever attempted between Chicago and Florida would be put on by the Louisville & Nashville, Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis and allied systems.—Chattanooga Times.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local application as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound in imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

ENDORSES US.

Dear Editor: After reading the letter in the News written by our learned friend, Hackworth, I want to congratulate our editor on his action in refusing to further continue the publishing of articles in the religious controversy which many refused to read and none enjoyed except those who did the writing. I had about decided to never pay another subscription to the News but the editor's manly stand is worthy of our support. He has been a faithful supporter of labor and we believe is a true union man, and will stand by his convictions on all occasions. Find enclosed fifty cents to pay my subscription from February, 1908, to February, 1909. Wish the News and its editor success. A. M. BOSTAIN, Petros, Tenn., Oct. 28, 1908.

Barber Lake, Ark.

Special to the News.

As I have been silent for four months, I will try and give my many friends in Alabama and Tennessee a few lines from this part of the country. There isn't anything within 20 miles of this place but heavy woods and Barber Lake and White and Red Rivers. There is a lot of game here, such as black bear, deer, wild cats, catamounts, coons, foxes, squirrels, ducks and geese. I have 92 traps, a good shot gun, a Marlin rifle, a hunting knife, a .44 six shooter, a tent and a good dog, and I'm living easy, but it takes me about all the time to watch my traps. I wish I had some of my friends from Tennessee or Alabama out here with me for company, but they might get scared of the owls, for there are lots of them here and they try to keep me company. There is no house in ten miles of me and my dog is my only companion, but I guess I do a good business with my traps. I went down to a little town to church two weeks ago and met lots of young people and made friends with all whom I met, and they asked me to come with them to Barber Lake on Monday evening. I often and be one of the Arkansas people.

There are lots of fine people here and if a man comes out here he lives like a man he is just the fellow with the girls. The only thing I have seen down here that I don't like is the rattlesnakes. There are lots of them just now, but they are leaving the swamps for the winter.

Good people, I have not seen our good little paper in four months, and I'm lonesome without it. I would like to see letters from all of our writers in the next issue. I would like to read a letter from my friend, "Mama's Pot," of Mountain City; also "F. G. J." of Pittsburg, Ga. Get busy, ye writers of Guild, Tenn., and Belleville, Ill. Trapper.

No man ever got to the top in business without good clothes. That is a fact that every young man should file away for ready reference. Some may think that shall alone, or energy alone, or money alone, but they are not. Without good clothes, skill has no power of introduction that it may not be given an opportunity to prove itself; without good clothes, energy is discredited by the natural presumption that, however talented it may be, it is "sloppy" and indifferent and not self-respectful; without good clothes energy bears the look of mere physical strength, not the mental alertness which successful business men are always on the lookout for.

In short, "the good clothes route" is the smoothest road to commercial preferment—and has been traveled by practically every winner in the long-distance race for business eminence. And for those few who "quint" into quick success—good clothes are even more a vital factor.

That much settled, don't forget that high-class garments must be made to order.

They must be yours because they were made for you—not simply because you bought them.

If you buy "ready-mades" you may, and ten to one you will, be wearing some other man's clothes. Paying for them doesn't make them your clothes except in a legal sense. To be your clothes they must fit you—they must be as much a consistent part of your outward personality as your physical features.

Isn't it true?

If you tie to

at all you will do it for reasons so good that you will never want to wear any other man's work.
